5 days

This is an amazing 3-day ride to the east of Ulaanbaatar including forested mountain passes, remote steppe and dramatic landscapes.

The journey begins riding along the Tuul river to Terelj National Park, then a little further to the gigantic silver statue of Genghis Khan on a horse. Beyond this we ride eastward into Khentii province and through a valley where it is believed that Genghis Khan established his original capital. It is also celebrated as the place where the book "Secret History of the Mongols" was written. Wooden bridges in various states of repair cross the Kherlen river and its tributaries and the route crosses some wild high steppe and passes by a few small lakes and villages before returning to Ulaanbaatar.

The total riding distance is 650 kilometers, of which approximately 90% is off-road on rough jeep tracks: loose gravel, hard pack, rock and mud, with some river crossings. Most of the route is an area of Mongolia rarely visited by tourists and there is no formal accommodation so we will camp in tents and take all equipment. All nights on tour are spent in the wild in the wild outdoor CAMPING in TENTS (tents provided).

Tour Highlights:

- Terelj National Park
- Silver statue of Genghis Khan
- Baga Nuur Town
- Kherlen River
- Khuduu Aral
- Monument of Secret History

Itinerary:

Day 1: Arrival in Ulaanbaatar

You arrive in Ulaanbaatar and go to the hotel. In the afternoon or in the evening you meet the tour guide and the rest of the group. The pre-tour meeting is about the day by day itinerary and safety issues. Overnight in the hotel.

Day 2: Ulaanbaatar - Tsenkher Mandal

Meet the tour crew and allocate motorbikes. Start riding along a potholed tarmac road to reach the village of Gachuurt. Following the Tuul river for several kilometres, the road quickly becomes very poor, rough and rocky, with mountains either side. Heading uphill through pine and silver birch forest, cross two mountain passes at over 1800 meters altitude, then down into the valley to the village of Terelj. There are many tourist Ger camps and hotels in this beautiful valley, which reminds one of how remote other parts of the trail are. Stop to visit the amazing silver statue of Genghis Khan on a horse and visit the museum located in the base of the statue. Continue eastwards riding through typical lush green meadows and hills inhabited only by nomadic families with their herds of animals. Overnight camping.

Day 3: Tsenkher Mandal - Avaraga Toson - Bayanjargalan

After the coal mining town of Baganuur we ride parallel to the Kherlen river for a while and along a long flat valley before reaching the village of Tsenkher Mandal. After a few kilometres on the new black-topped "Millenium Road" we turn southwards, back onto the hard-pack track. We come upon the rather surprising health spa "Avarga Toson" where many local people go to bathe and health various ailments. Not far from this "holiday village" is a marvellous statue marking the place where the first book describing the history of Mongolia was written: "The Secret History of the Mongols". Continue in a south-westerly direction until reaching the wide Kherlen River. The wooden bridges are quite exciting and make for some good photographs. Overnight camping.

Day 4: Bayanjargalan - Ulaanbaatar

The wide empty valley is crossed by many tracks and after a while we head up to a low pass at an altitude of 1273 meters and cross a wild remote stretch of steppe where you may see gazelle, wild foxes, eagles, or other wildlife. Pass through the pretty village of Bayanjargal and continue on for a further 40km or so, bypassing another health spa Buureljuut Raashan and on to the village of Gurvan Bag where the line of the Trans Siberian Railway crosses our track. The trail passes by more dramatic and beautiful granite rocky mountains and over Buureliin Davaa pass at an altitude of 1603 meters with fantastic views at the top. Ride down to the mining town of Nalaikh and back to Ulaanbaatar along the tarmac road. Overnight hotel.
