The alternation between green mountains, narrow valleys, vast meadows, and incredible views is a treat for the (biker) senses.

As close as the two mountain ranges are, their characters are different, separated by the Rhine: France on one side, Germany on the other. But both have one thing in common: curves, curves and more curves. A pleasure is also the multi-course menu in the evening and the good Baden wine, with which we can end each tour day relaxed.
