As an advanced rider, you should also be able to ride safely on off-road trails.

Maybe you have already participated in off-road training or you have gained enough experience on off-road bikes.

Riding in riverbeds, on loose gravel, long uphill, downhill rides, and water crossings - this is what awaits you in our challenging advanced rider training. In our train & ride course, we start the first day with a training day in our enduro park.

The second day consists of a ride day with section training. We will ride an off-road loop through the Sierra de las Nieves and will implement challenging river crossings, single trails, climbs, and descents for all levels.

On the morning of the first day, you will complete a slow-speed riding training in our park according to BMW IIA regulations. In the afternoon we are already riding on loose gravel (preparing for riverbed rides), doing long uphill and downhill rides and single trails. Depending on the skills of the group, we can also offer drift training.

On the second day, we start an off-road tour through rivers, over mountain ranges, and different trails through the region and practice already learned techniques. Our instructors are always there for you to give tips and help with possible obstacles.
