Well-known and not so well-known routes in Austria and Germany

For the warm-up, we pass the Buckelwiesen pastures to Wallgau, the idyllic town with its numerous Lüftl sceneries bordered by the Karwendel, Wetterstein, and Ester mountains. However, this place became famous mainly because of the likable and world-famous former biathlete Magdalena Neuner, who was born and still lives here.

But you only have eyes for the narrow toll road, which leads you in front of the imposing backdrop along the, newly emerged river, Isar to the Sylvenstein reservoir. Almost unnoticed, you cross the border into Austria, and, shortly thereafter, you enter Germany again on the Achen Pass and thus ride a short section of the German Alpine road. The Weißbach river accompanies you until it flows into the Tegernsee.

Your route takes you past the shores of Lake Tegern and Lake Schlier before the Sudelfeld Road, popular among motorcyclists, invites you "for a dance". You set the pace. In the Inn Valley and thus a little later you find yourself in Austria again and can recharge your batteries for the next ride. A high plateau leads you to the most spectacular part of the tour. Through the breathtaking gorge, you go up to the Brandenberger valley. The other side of the gorge leads you back into the Inntal, to then guide you back to Germany via the Lake Achen to the Sylvenstein reservoir. Fading out, over the lovely high valley of Jachenau and past the shores of Walchensee, you will reach the hotel around 5:00 pm. You and your bike are done for the day.

General eligibility requirements:

Valid driver's license

Complete own protective clothing for rider and pillion: helmet with ECE test mark, motorcycle clothing (pants and jacket) with ECE protectors, motorcycle boots that reach over the ankles (in the case of motorcycle boots with laces, the laces must be secured so that snagging on vehicle parts is impossible), motorcycle gloves. We cannot allow participation in the tours with sneakers, low shoes, and normal jeans for safety reasons.

Your motorcycle must: be in roadworthy and technically perfect condition, be registered for road traffic, be insured (at least third-party insurance), and have enough fuel in the tank. The legal minimum tread depth for motorcycle tires is 1.6 mm. We recommend a minimum tread depth of 4 mm.

Weather: Bad weather is no reason for the cancellation of a booked tour (except severe weather)! Please think in any case of suitable weather protection clothing for your tour.

Accommodation: In case of a longer journey we recommend an overnight stay in a hotel. We are happy to help you find the right hotel in the immediate vicinity.
