You have already participated in our Trau Dich beginner training or have gained some experience on your sport duro?

You know that enduro racing is no walk in the park and you want to step out of your comfort zone? We now offer you a special training week with us in Andalusia/Spain.

Also this week we start with a training day in our own Enduro Park. For the advanced training we have designed new exercises that will help you develop and optimize your skills on the Sportenduro.

On the following four days we gradually increase the level of difficulty on the road so that you have the opportunity to grow beyond yourself. But don't worry, as always there are different options and you pick what you can handle. The advantage is that we can put the participants together individually and thus promote the group dynamic. This week you will overcome your inner obstacle, exceed your limits and have a lot of fun.
